

NViro hits Greater London

NViro has won a three year contract with Kingston College which extends the cleaning contractor's customer base into the M25 area.

The contract covers two sites in Kingston upon Thames including a state of the art health club and sports complex. Stephen MacDonald, NViro's Sales and Marketing Manager, said: "Having gained a strong foothold in Hampshire, Sussex and the Isle of Wight, NViro is now looking to exploit new opportunities in Surrey and South West London. We are also keen to enhance our reputation as a leading provider of cleaning solutions to the education sector. Our contract with Kingston College meets both these objectives."

Graham Norris, Estates Manager at Kingston College, said: "Of the 13 companies invited to tender, four were selected to make presentations to the College. Kingston College evaluated NViro to be the most suitable company to meet our cleaning requirements. We now look forward to working with NViro to raise the cleaning standards throughout the College estate."

The contract, managed by NViro on site, involves cleaning various education and leisure facilities during the night.

Located near the River Thames, Kingston College has over 8,000 students studying 'Level 1' through to 'Level 5' courses.
